HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS
AND
Hoofland's German Tonic.
The Great Remedies for all Diseases of the LIVER, STOMACH, OR DIGESTIVE ORGANS.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS
Is composed of the pure juices (or, as they are medicinally termed, Extracts,) of Roots, Herbs, and Barks, making a preparation, highly concentrated, and entirely free from alcoholic admixture of any kind.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,
Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with the purest quality of Santa Cruz Rum, Orange, &c., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public.
Those preferring a Medicine free from Alcoholic admixture, will use
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.
Those who have no objection to the combination of the bitters, as stated, will use
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC.
They are both equally good, and contain the same medicinal virtues, the choice between the two being a mere matter of taste, the Tonic being the most palatable.
The stomach, from a variety of causes, such as Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, etc, is very apt to have its functions deranged. The Liver, sympathizing as closely as it does with the stomach, then becomes affected, the result of which is that the patient suffers from several or more of the following diseases:
Constipation, Flatulence, Inward Piles, Fullness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried or Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a lying posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, etc., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of Evil, and Great Depression of Spirits.
The sufferer from these diseases should exercise the greatest caution in the selection of a remedy for his case, purchasing only that which he is assured from his investigation and inquiries possesses true merit, is skillfully compounded, is free from injurious ingredients, and has established for itself a reputation for the cure of these diseases. In this connection we would submit those well known remedies—
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS
AND
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,
Prepared by DR. C. M. JACKSON,
PHILADELPHIA, PA.
Twenty-two years since they were first introduced into this country from Germany, during which time they have undoubtedly performed more cures, and benefited suffering humanity to a greater extent, than any other remedies known to the public.
These remedies will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia or Nervous Debility, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all Diseases arising from a disordered Liver, Stomach, or Intestines.
DEBILITY,
Resulting from any Cause whatever; PROSTRATION OF THE SYSTEM, induced by Severe Labor, Hardships, Exposure, Fevers, &c.
There is no medicine extant equal to these remedies in such cases. A tone and vigor is imparted to the whole system, the appetite is strengthened, food is enjoyed, the stomach digests promptly, the blood is purified, the complexion becomes sound and healthy, the yellow tinge is eradicated from the eyes, a bloom is given to the cheeks, and the weak and nervous invalid becomes a strong and healthy being.
PERSONS ADVANCED IN LIFE,
And feeling the hand of time weighing heavily upon them, with all its attendant ills, will find in the use of this BITTERS, or the TONIC, an elixir that will instil new life into their veins, restore in a measure the energy and ardor of more youthful days, build up their shrunken forms, and give health and happiness to their remaining years.
NOTICE.
It is a well established fact that fully one half of the female portion of our population are seldom in the enjoyment of good health; or, to use their own expression, never feel well: they are languid, devoid of all energy, extremely nervous, and have no appetite.
To this class of persons the BITTERS, or the TONIC, is especially recommended.
WEAK AND DELICATE CHILDREN,
Are made strong by the use of either of these remedies. They will cure in every case of MARASMUS, without fail.
Thousands of certificates have accumulated in the hands of the proprietor, but space will allow of the publication of but a few. These, it will be observed, are men of note and of such standing that they must be believed.

TESTIMONIALS.
HON. GEORGE W. WOODWARD,
Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pa., writes:
Philadelphia, March 18, 1867.
"I find 'Hoofland's German Tonic' useful in disease and of great benefit in cases of debility, and want of nervous action in the system.
Yours, truly, GEO. W. WOODWARD."
HON. JAMES THOMPSON,
Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.
Philadelphia, April 28, 1866.
"I consider 'Hoofland's German Bitters' a valuable medicine in case of attacks of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from my experience of it. Yours, with respect, JAMES THOMPSON."
FROM REV. JOSEPH H. KENNARD, D. D.,
Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church, Philadelphia.
Dr. Jackson—Dear Sir: I have been frequently requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicines, but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, I have in all cases declined; but with a clear conviction of their great injurious tendency, and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart for once from my usual course, to express my full conviction that, for general debility of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail; but usually, I doubt not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes.
Yours, very respectfully,
J. H. KENNARD,
Eighth, below Coates St.
FROM REV. E. D. FENDALL.
Assistant Editor Christian Chronicle, Philadelphia.
I have derived decided benefit from the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, and feel it my privilege to recommend them as a most valuable tonic, to all who are suffering from general debility or from diseases arising from derangement of the liver.
Yours truly, E. D. FENDALL.

GENERAL GRANT.

His Visit to his Birthplace--Cordial Reception from his old Friends and Neighbors.

From a letter in the Washington Chronicle, descriptive of Gen. Grant's trip to the West we quote as follows:

The steamer halted at Point Pleasant, the birthplace of Gen. Grant, a quiet little country village in Ohio, not far from Cincinnati, which will probably never aspire to a greater distinction than it has already attained, and if it doesn't increase rapidly in population, can answer its more ambitious neighbors as the lion did the fox in the fable, unum sed leo. Here the General was given time to find the house in which he was born, and which he had never seen to remember till then. This property had long since passed out of the ownership of Mr. Grant, who removed to Georgetown, Brown County, Ohio, when his son, Ulysses, was a year old. The boat ran on up from here to Ripley, Ohio, where the coming of Gen. Grant had been anticipated unexpectedly, and preparations made to give him a rousing reception. It was night when he arrived. Rockets were flying, cannon firing, bells ringing, music playing and the whole town (some five or six thousand) appeared to be on the river bank shouting vociferously. A committee of gentlemen came aboard, and Gen. Murphy delivered an address of welcome. Gen. Grant replied that he was taking a little trip to visit the old places where he had spent his early days, and that he would be back the next day, and would then be glad to meet his old friends in a quiet way. From here the boat ran up to Maysville, Ky., where the General left it, arriving about 10 o'clock the night of the 2d. He was met by numerous old friends, and the greater part of the night was spent in talking over old times. Here he had gone to school, and many old schoolmates chatted freely with him of the sweetest of all boyhood memories.

At 5 o'clock the next morning, (the 3d,) the General, his son and Gen. Dent drove out into the country fourteen miles, to Mayslick, and breakfasted with an uncle, the brother of the General's father. After a short visit here they returned to Maysville, arriving at 12 o'clock noon, having stopped at Washington en route, the oldest town in Kentucky, where Col. Goggin entertained them. A steamer passed soon after, and the General returned to Ripley, arriving about 2 o'clock, and was entertained by his cousin, Mr. Hudson, who had invited a number of old friends to meet his guest. The olden times were discussed, and a few hours spent in delightful companionship. The General visited the old school-house where he received some of his early training, and the old market house, where it is not improbable his ambition to achieve victories at marbles made him an occasional truant at school. He was reminded by old school fellows of many funny jokes and pranks they had played off together on their fellows. While Gen. Grant attended school at Ripley and Maysville, Ky., his father lived at Georgetown, Ohio, not far distant. It was from Georgetown he was sent to West Point. His father applied to Senator Morris, of Ohio, who referred the application to Representative Hamar, who secured the appointment. The same person was afterward Gen. Hamar in the Mexican war, and his protege, Lieut. Grant, had the melancholy satisfaction of attending his dying bed and ministering to him when mortally sick of fever in Mexico.

At Ripley, Ohio, carriages were tendered the party, and several citizens joined in a drive over to Georgetown, about twelve miles distant where they arrived at 9 o'clock the night of the 3d. Here the General found himself in the midst of old and endeared friends. Here he had lived from the age of one year until he left for West Point. The Fourth of July was spent here most delightfully, visiting from neighbor to neighbor, and reviving the memories of the olden time. Friends went by old familiar names. Titles and stiff formalities were wholly ignored. It was "How are you John?" "Why, Ulysses, is this you? How in the world did you find your way back here?" Old men and women greeted their former neighbor as their son, and the greatest joy pervaded the people. No discrimination was made by Democrats and political difference were unthought of, but all vied with each other in extending a good old fashioned welcome to their old friend and neighbor. Some humorous scenes and dialogues occurred. Not a few of the friends said: "Well, Ulysses, you know we are Democrats and always have been, but, we are mighty proud of our old townsman, and we are afraid you have demoralized our politics a little; we reckon some of us will have to vote for you."

On the night of the Fourth, the General drove to Bethel, Ohio, twelve miles from Georgetown, where he stopped an hour with Mr. Morris, son of Senator Morris, who had been instrumental in appointing him to West Point. Here, although the hour was late, he was met by numerous old friends who remembered him as a boy. Old Mr. Grant had moved here from Georgetown after his son started to West Point, and it was from here he moved to Covington a few years since From this place the General drove the same night to Batavia, twelve miles, where he spent the Sabbath with his cousin, formerly Miss Griffith, now Mrs. Judge Ashman. The Sabbath was spent in church-going and pleasant conversation with friends and relations.

In the drives from town to town the General pointed out many old landmarks, and several times, while driving in the night, was called upon to decide between different roads when others of the party were unable to do so. A trait in his character was here displayed which must have been of incalculable service in managing large armies. Years had flown since he had seen or known anything about this country, and yet he seemed to remember distinctly every path and tree and their exact locations. Of course he was not driven, but he held the reins in all these flying trips from place to place, and naturally enough—and because natural, is worth mentioning—he always watered his own horses and attended to their hitching and unhitching. The country in Ohio and Kentucky which he visited is lonely in the extreme, and there seemed to be genuine enjoyment to the General in travelling through it. You can imagine the zest with which he entered into the pleasures of this trip when you reflect that but a day or two before he was surrounded as none but a Washington City official is. From Batavia he drove over, on Monday morning, (the 6th,) to the Little Miami depot, on the Little Miami Railroad, and in a few hours was back again with his family in Covington. If you will take the trouble to look at the map, and follow the course I have marked, you will see that Gen. Grant is as enterprising in his visiting as he is in his fighting campaigns.

The party, again united, left Covington the evening of the 6th, and coming over the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad, arriving at St. Louis, July 7, in the afternoon. The citizens of Covington got up a surprise demonstration for the night of the 6th, but so closely had their movements been concealed from Gen. Grant, and so quietly did he leave for St. Louis, that neither knew the plans of the other, and when the hundreds assembled at the home of Mr. Grant they found their favorite already several hours away. Gen. Grant's farm, to which his little party repaired, is on the Gravois turnpike, about nine miles southwest from St. Louis. It originally belonged to Wm. Dent and his children, but the desire of the old gentleman to see it kept in the hands of the family unbroken, induced all the children to sell their interest to Gen. Grant, except a small portion. It comprises 1,040 acres, lying beautifully, and is rich for agricultural purposes. The principal house is on the Gravois road, and has been built some years. It is a cottage of the Gothic order, and is situated in a beautiful natural grove with very picturesque surroundings.

The Pirate Semmes Speaks.

The Mobile Register reports Semmes speech delivered at a Seymour and Blair ratification meeting held in that city on the 13th. Hear what the old sinner had to say:

I have been a Democrat all my life—before the war, during the war, and since the war—and fought the war on the principles of Democracy, believing that the grand old Constitution which embodied these principles was about to be destroyed. I drew my sword against the old flag; the old flag which no longer represented these principles; it was not the flag of 1776 against which I drew my sword, but the flag which had become "a flaunting lie," so-called by prominent politicians of the North. But now, in spite of the efforts of those politicians who endeavored to strangle the old Democratic party, by erecting in its stead a new Conservative party—a sort of conglomerated party which was to comprise politicians of every shade of opinion, the grand old Democratic party has arisen from the long slumber from which it had indulged, and now gives signs of new life and vitality, and I have come here to-night from the country to ratify and rejoice with you in the nomination of Seymour and Blair.

There is really but one grand issue in this contest, and that is the restoration of these States to their proper places in the Union, with all their rights and privileges unimpaired.—This issue will have the effect to drive from our midst the hordes of adventurers who have swarmed upon us like vultures, to eat up the substance of the people. This issue will again reduce the negro to a subordinate position as the inferior race, and restore the white man to the government which belongs to him. When you have settled this issue it will be time enough to rid ourselves of the leprous army which has been fattening upon the wealth of the South. It will be time enough to settle questions of currency. It will be time enough to destroy the tariff and taxation under which the nation has been groaning. And now, fellow citizens, I have come here to declare that I have given in my allegiance, heart and soul, to the old flag, provided we can restore the old flag again to be the representative of principles of the constitution, which we will be able to effect by the election of Seymour and Blair.

—John Forsyth, of the Mobile Register, supports Seymour principally on the ground that he "is in favor of overthrowing the reconstruction measures, with their mongrel and illegal governments in the Southern States." The literal meaning of which is, that if Seymour is elected he will inaugurate a rebellion to restore the whipped rebels all they had before they attempted to get up an independent Confederacy.

—Robert Toombs has made a speech for Seymour and Blair. He thinks if they are elected he may yet call the roll of his slaves within the shadow of Bunker Hill monument. Can any one doubt that his thoughts will be verified if his favorites are victorious.

Greenbacks.

When the bill making greenbacks a legal tender was pending, Mr. George H. Pendleton made a speech denying the Constitutional power of Congress to issue a note not bearing interest; also denying the Constitutional power to compel any person to accept any such note, or anything else than silver and gold coin, in payment of debts, bonds or mortages, public or private. He insisted that the issue of these greenbacks was, in the language of the Democratic platform, "unconstitutional, and therefore void."

Having exhausted his rhetoric in pointing out their illegality, he made an argument against the inexpediency of issuing them, and in so doing drew the following picture of horrible effects of issuing $400,000,000 of greenbacks. Read it, and remember that the Democratic platform, as interpreted by Mr. Pendleton, is now seeking repudiation by insisting upon an additional issue of $1,700,000,000 of greenbacks. Pendleton said:

"I believe that this Government has reached a crisis in its history. I believe that it is approaching a period in the history of its legislation which may determine the question of its continuance. By wisdom it may overcome the evils of secession, by its great powers and resources it may be able to defend itself against those in arms against it; but I firmly believe that it cannot maintain itself against the shock of the accumulated and manifold dangers which follow inevitably and closely in the wake of an illegal, unsound and depreciated Government paper currency.

"The gentleman from New York (Spalding) called them (legal tenders) 'demand notes.' They have been so-called throughout the country. They do not bear a single characteristic of a demand note. There is no time, from the hour when they shall pass into the hands of the holder, when he can by their terms demand that they shall be redeemed. There is no time when the faith of the Government is pledged to their payment. The holder may present them and he is told that the time has not arrived at which, by the face of the bill, they are to be paid.—They will inevitably depreciate. The wit of man has never discovered a means by which paper currency can be kept at par value, except by its speedy, cheap, certain convertibility into gold and silver. I need not cite gentlemen to history or authorities, unless on political economy, to prove it. Unless convertible, they have always depreciated; they always will depreciate; they ought to depreciate, because they are only valuable as the representatives of gold and silver; and if they are not convertible into that of which they are the representative, they must necessarily lose their value.

You can send these notes out into the world stamped with irredeemability. You put on them the mark of Cain, and, like Cain, they will go forth to be vagabonds and fugitives on the earth.—What, then, will be the consequence? It requires no prophet to tell what will be their history.

The currency will be expanded;
Prices will be inflated;
Fixed values will depreciate;
Incomes will be diminished;
The savings of the poor will vanish;
The hoardings of the widow will melt away;
Bonds, mortgages and notes, everything of fixed value, will lose their value;
Everything of changeable value will be appreciated;
The necessaries of life will rise in value;
The Government will pay two-fold, certainly largely more than it ought, for everything it goes into the market to buy;
Gold and silver will be driven out of the country.

What then?

The day of reckoning must come.
Contraction will follow.
Private ruin and public bankruptcy, either with or without REPUDIATION, will inevitably follow.

What Seymour thinks of Them.

On the 26th of June, 1868, in his speech in New York, only four days before the Convention, Horatio Seymour thus described the effect of issuing any more greenbacks. He said:

"If on the other hand, we debase the currency by unwise issues, we shall equally perplex business and destroy sober industry, and make all prices mere matters of gambling, tricks and chances. This will end as it did in the Southern Confederacy. At the outset the citizens of Richmond went to market with their money in their vest pockets, and brought back their dinners in their baskets; in the end they took their money in their baskets, and took home their dinners in their vest pockets."

The Chicago Times Describes Them.

About the same time the Chicago Times, in reviewing the various plans for paying the public debt, drew this graphic picture of the worthlessness of greenbacks under an increased issue. It said:

"The first group contains the Cincinnati plan (i. e., the Pendleton scheme.) The great feature of this scheme is what is called 'payment of the national debt in greenbacks.' It contemplates a new issue of greenbacks, equal in amount to the bonds which it is proposed to redeem. Over twelve hundred millions of five-twenty bonds will become redeemable before 1872. Five hundred millions are redeemable now. The way to pay them according to this plan, is to set the printing presses in motion. So long as the rags and lampblack hold out, we will have no trouble in paying the bonds at maturity. When all have been thus paid, we shall have added to our paper money the trifling inflation of $1,600,000,000, making all told, a circulating medium of $2,300,000,000. Then we shall have what are called 'good times,' 'splendid times.' Wheat and greenbacks will be exchanged bushel for bushel. A barrel of whisky will be sold for two barrels of legal tenders. Collectors of Government revenue will go about with wagons having lofty and capacious receptacles on them, like those used in handling charcoal, and will gather the public taxes with pitch forks. To levy $5 in gold will require a one-horse load of greenbacks. But the Government bonds will be "paid." The only question will now be how to pay the Government greenbacks. This is something the plan does not contemplate. Specie payment under it will be reached—never!"

These are three Democratic pictures of the effect of the greenback redemption policy.

THE GREAT FLOOD.

The Freshet Near Baltimore—The Calamity at Ellicott City, Md.

The Baltimore American of this morning says:—The calamity at Ellicott City is described by Miss H. C. Adams, Principal of Western Female High School No. I of this city, with great clearness. Miss Adams was sitting with a child in the house of Mr. Gibbons, and looking up the river, called the attention of the child to the water, which was coming down in a wild manner, but which she supposed was not unusual in a shower, although no rain had then fallen at Ellicott city, except a few patterings drops, since day-break. Within ten minutes of her first notice of the coming water, the houses on the tongue of made land between the race and the river were cut off from all communication on either side. Trees, logs, debris of every kind, and the bridge above, swept down the river on one side, and through the race on the other with fearful velocity, cutting off all communication with the main land. Dr. Owings, whose house was on this tongue of the land, had but a few minutes before left his family, much against the remonstrances of his wife, who had become alarmed at the threatening aspect of the sky; and only after three messages were sent, he left—to return to it no more. He had barely reached the bridge on his return, then looking forward, he saw the flood coming down, and all the houses on the small breadth of land between the raceway and the river, not only surrounded with water, but that the flood had already driven them into the 2d story. Dr. Owings took refuge in the house of Mr. Gibbons, not a hundred feet from his own dwelling, and called to his wife advising her how she should act for the safety of herself and children by her side. Speedily the water drove her and the children to the roof, where, clinging to the chimney, they seemed somewhat secure, but the rocking of the house—a three story frame, soon caused the chimney to fall. Meanwhile, Mrs. Marschano, being in the house above, reached up to Mrs. Owing a baby three weeks old, supposing it would be safer there than in her own maternal arms. Mrs. Owings was soon to hold it as long as she lived.

Dr. Owings, calling across the race, as his house floated from its foundation and lodged against one below, directed that the walls of the adjoining houses should be cut through. This was done by Mr. Fountain, and thus, as one house after another fell, working most heroically, this noble man cut through the walls of seven houses, until they came to the last in the row. This house was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Patridge, who had sold it very recently, and were to leave it on the following day for a new home in Virginia.

In this house all the occupants of the six houses above were assembled. All the other houses had fallen and drifted away, but this, for a time stood firm against the torrent, and there was a slight hope that it might be saved.—Suddenly it was seen to waver, and in a moment more, with all its precious burden of children, women, and men—men powerless against that flood, although within a hundred feet of solid ground—it fell with a terrific crash, and not a soul was saved.

That Dr. Owings lost his reason and endeavored to throw himself into the current and was only held back by strong men; that men put their hands over their eyes as house after house fell, and could not look upon the terrible sight; that the last shriek of despair was too much for the loving, living friends, and they were forced to stop their ears, will give our readers but a faint idea of the horrors of this terrible calamity.

Miss Adams does not refer to anything except what she saw, and the above, it must be remembered, is only one of the incidents of the destruction of Ellicott City.

—ANTI-GRANT ARGUMENTS.—The New York Times thus depicts the sorrowful plight of Democratic editors and orators.—"The Democratic papers are in great straits to find out some way of attacking Grant. They cannot deny that he led our armies to victory and saved the Union; they cannot deny his immense services to the country; they cannot deny his executive and practical genius; they cannot deny his personal or official integrity. And so they have got up a variety of expedients—some pitiful, some villainous. Thus the World has been writing silly nonsense for several months past about his name, and latterly it has resorted to the old but worthless dodge of unscrupulous party hacks, of making charges of drunkenness. This is the best and worst they can do; and we should think it must convince even the most hide bound Democrat that the opposition to Grant has nothing whatever to stand upon."

Organize at Once.

We earnestly hope the Grant and Colfax army will organize immediately in every election district in the county, and make arrangements to have every voter furnished with the right kind of political information. Our club terms are down to the price of the white paper the Globe is printed upon, and we want our labor to fall into the hands of every man who desires to vote right. Send in your clubs—now is the time.

THE BOYS IN BLUE.—In another column will be found the address of the Boys in Blue. We want our readers to read this address. It is not the sentiments of a political class, whose views are merely uttered to attract attention, but it is the manly, soldierly sentiments of a class of men whose voice should be heard in the struggle before us. They fought the war to a successful close, and they now appeal to their comrades to not forget the issues of the day, nor forsake their colors to let them be snatched from the ramparts by the now encouraged rebels and their sympathizers. Read it, soldier, enlist yourself under the banner of your heroic leaders, Grant, Hartranft and Campbell, and victory will again be yours.

☞The State debt has been reduced more than five millions of dollars during the administration of Gen. Hartranft. His capacity for the position of Auditor General has been well attested, and his chances for re-election are certain.

Constitutional Amendment.

Hon. Mr. Seward, Secretary of State, announces that the new or Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States has been ratified by twenty-nine States—twenty-seven only being necessary—and that it is now to all intents and purposes a part of our National Constitution. Congress has also passed a joint resolution so declaring. The amendment was proposed at the Session of Congress in 1866, and contains the following provisions:

1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States are citizens, and the States are forbid making any laws abridging their privileges and immunities.

2. If the States disfranchise their citizens, their representation in Congress shall be proportionately reduced.

3. Disfranchises leading rebels, but permits a Congress vote of two-thirds to restore them.

4. Declares the inviolability of the public debt and that the rebel debt shall not be assumed.

We call attention of our readers to these provisions again. In regard to the first section we have said and we say again that we interpret it to mean that all persons, whether white or colored, are considered citizens, providing they have been born or naturalized in the United States, and it is therefore right that they should have none of their rights or privileges abridged. We have heretofore considered it unwise to make voters of the negroes, and we do yet so consider; but since the negroes of the South have a vote, the Southern men have and are still making Democratic voters of them, and this will satisfy them and their friends in the North, and no objection will of course be raised by the Democratic party on that score. They will get the majority of the "nigger" vote, against which they said so much, and no thanks will they give the Radicals for giving them the chance for thus strengthening their party.

The second section, which from its reading strikes more against the States of the North that have negroes and don't give them a vote, will have their representation reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such States. This amendment therefore lessens the representation of those northern States that disfranchise colored men, while the Southern States, wherein Congress has given the vote to the negro, will eventually have a full representation. This may have the effect some day of inducing the northern States to enfranchise every man in order to get their full representation. When that day comes we hope we will be better prepared for such a change than we are at present.

The third section of the amendment disfranchises leading rebels, such as those who have taken an oath to support the Constitution of the United States, and then engaged in the rebellion against the same. This section also precludes any of the said class from being a Senator or Representative in Congress, but Congress may by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability. The justice of this section cannot be doubted. We don't want rebels to rule over us. This is the desire of loyal men everywhere, and were we to permit them in Congress, without any guarantee of their penitence, we would have re-enacted a civil warfare for all the imaginary rights of the conquered Confederacy that would be as detrimental to the interests and peace of our country as the martial conflict through which we have passed.

The fourth section of the amendment makes inviolable the public debt of the United States, and makes illegal and void all debts incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion. But the rebel leaders want their debt paid, and they will try in every manner possible to have us pay it. If we give them the chance to assume power, through the election of Seymour and Blair, they will resort to every dodge they can think of to get their leaders into Congress and make valid their debt. This is what they want, and this is what their leaders mean when they say that they want their rights. It is for you, honest working man to say, whether you will vote to increase your taxes to pay the rebel debt; it is for you, patriot, to say whether you will allow the government to pass into the hands of those who were and are its bitter foes, and you are called upon now to decide these questions. Grant will keep the helm of State in a steady, unruffled channel, while Seymour we fear will plunge it on the breakers of discord and disruption.

☞Mr. Vallandigham, stung by the charges of duplicity in forsaking Pendleton at the New York Convention, is out with a lengthy letter. He denies that the Ohio delegation were taken by surprise. He says "there was no 'trick' and therefore no discovery."—He believes that if New York had withheld her vote from Mr. Hendricks Chase would have been nominated within an hour. The statement of Vallandigham shows that it was nip and tie business and that matters were strangely mixed. It is impossible, however, to miss the design, even though the letter was carefully worded. "Seymour was canvassed and found to be acceptable whenever it should be advisable to present his name." It was, therefore, Seymour or Chase, and Vallandigham preferred Seymour. The letter more clearly establishes the charge that Vallandigham was the wire puller for Seymour in spite of the protests of Ohio.

☞Wade Hampton frankly admitted to the citizens of Charleston that he dictated the following sentence which appears in the Democratic platform: "and we declare that the reconstruction acts are unconstitutional, revolutionary and void." He says that is his plank in the platform, and the great Democratic party being pledged to that declaration, he wanted nothing else. Now, why did he want nothing else? He undoubtedly spoke the will of the Southern people, when he desired that plank in the Democratic platform. Frank Blair and Wade Hampton coincide in calling the reconstruction acts unconstitutional and void, and they thus denounce because they want to see a new revolution that will be destructive to the interests of our common country. Hampton is speaking for the Democrats of the South, and he clearly expresses their feelings and their demands; Blair is speaking for the Democrats of the North, when he declares for war against Congress. Now, can our Government be any more stable by the continuation of a feud between its two departments—Executive and Legislative? That is what the "Democracy" want, and what we would undoubtedly have if Seymour and Blair are elected. We have seen enough of bitterness between the two Departments, and we cannot vote for a repetition; and now that reconstruction has progressed as far as it has, we cannot consent to see a general upturning, for the sake of gratifying the rebel element at the South.

Address of the "Boys in Blue."

HEAD-QUARTERS SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE, 1105 CHESTNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA, July 9th, 1868.

COMRADES:—When the rebel armies were overthrown and the rebel leaders forgiven by our magnanimous Chief, the whole world wondered at the generosity which pardoned men guilty of so great a crime. The least we expected was that the Government, for which we had fought and for which so many had given up their lives, was secured against the possibility of another conspiracy. But warned by history and taught by our own experience, among the misguided people of the South, we maintained our organizations, and now, in the forefront of another peril, congratulate ourselves upon the wisdom of that decision. So thoroughly have our military brothers reunited themselves that only a few who were the Union blue can be induced to join the ranks of the rebel Democracy. Our camps extend East and West, from the Atlantic to the Pacific; and there is not a veteran who does not realize that the public danger may once more call him to the field. The alarming spectacle of a formal combination between the two great columns of treason—the rebel army of the South and the rebel sympathizers of the North—is the living proof of great impending calamities. Those desperate men—the one side still vaunting their treason against the country, and the other still boasting of the aid and comfort extended to them—profess to be confident of success in the approaching election. The animosity they bore to our beloved Commander-in-Chief—now the candidate of the great Republican party—survives the hollow gratitude with which they hailed his liberal terms of peace; and now, remembering only that he struck them in the field, and coldly forgetting how he forgave their great offence, they are toiling with superhuman energy to defeat him for the Presidency, and to place in that high office a fit successor of its present guilty occupant. Their hatred of Grant extends to all our heroic leaders, with one or two exceptions. The only offence of these accomplished soldiers is their fidelity to the country for which they fought. General Geo. H. Thomas in Tennessee, General Irwin McDowell in Mississippi, General G. Meade in Georgia, General Canby in South Carolina, and General Reynolds in Texas, with their predecessors, Sheridan, Sickles, Pope, Swayne, and Mower, are proscribed and slandered—like common felons—while every Union man in the South, black and white, is subjected to inconceivable cruelty and oppression. This wholesale malevolence, looking directly to the restoration of the rebel governments, teaches us not only the wisdom and justice of our organization, but invokes us to renewed efforts in favor of Grant and Colfax, the standard-bearers of the Republican party, and our gallant comrades, Hartranft and Campbell, our standard-bearers in the State contest.

The fundamental ideas of this rebel combination are, that nothing has been gained by the success of our arms, but that every thing has been lost. To forget the sanctified dead, to ignore and outrage the gallant living, and to remember and reward those only whose crimes in any other nation would have been punished by death or confiscation, is the inspiring motive of our adversaries. What American soldier does not feel the insult? What American citizen does not burn to resent it? Instead of cordially submitting to the laws passed by overwhelming Congressional majorities, and carried into effect for the grand purpose of reorganizing the South upon the basis of equal justice and equal rights, our recent adversaries openly threaten a new resort to arms.

At no period in the rebellion have they been once so defiant and so cruel. United in antagonism to the laws, to the national credit, to the national currency, to the public peace, and to those great principles for which we contended, and succeeded in maintaining, they coolly appeal to the people and ask a verdict in favor of their incredible crimes. Speaking now for the returned Volunteers of Pennsylvania, who were disfranchised by the Seymour Democracy, we solemnly renew our devotion to our beloved country, and assert, not simply our readiness to support our candidates at the ballot-box, but our determination, at all times, to march to our Government's defence against her enemies.

By order of the Committee.

A. L. RUSSELL, Secretary.

WADE HAMPTON.

Reception of the Rebel Cavalry Leader in Charleston.

The Charleston papers can find no words too strong to express the degree of enthusiasm with which Gen. Wade Hampton was welcomed by the people of that city on Friday night, upon his return from the Tammany Convention. He was received by a long procession, and having been conducted to a four horse carriage, was escorted, like a conquering hero, amid the shouts of the multitude, to his temporary stopping place in the city. In the evening a large meeting was held in the open air. Hon. James B. Campbell presided, and after a few remarks, introduced Hampton as "that undaunted soldier, unsullied gentleman and earnest patriot." The band played Dixie, and the enthusiasm was so great that he was unable to utter an audible word. Quiet being at last restored, General Hampton said in his remarks:—

More than four years—years which have seen a nation's death, which have brought to us sorrow, humiliation, and ruin—have passed since I last stood in your noble and battle-scarred old city. Then proudly erect, flushed with victory and devotion in her patriotism, she held in her heroic hands the key of our State, defying with indomitable courage, the assaults of her enemies. While a portion of her sons here guarded so bravely the portals of the State, others were following the glorious Southern Cross wherever it was waving in triumph, or were sleeping their last sleep on the fields which their valor had contributed to win. All were doing their duty as Carolinians, and the great historic names of the revolution, were gilded with a new lustre as the descendants of Moultrie, of Rutledge, of Lowndes, of Hayne, of Pinckney and Huger, fought as did their fathers for this dear old Carolina of ours. Well, then, might she be proud of the immortal record she was making for herself; and, as one of her sons, my heart used to swell with joy and pride as day after day tidings came from our far distant camp fires in Virginia that the brave old city, ravaged by fire, torn by shot and battered by shell, still stood unconquered and unconquerable. Thank God, she stood to the last. She heard the first gun of the war, and through all of those four years of blood and strife that followed, our flag floated triumphantly from her beleaguered walls; and not until that flag was folded forever, to be buried with the lost cause, did hostile feet press her soil. Nobly, then, did she fulfill her arduous trust during those stirring years of war.—Come what may, her past is beyond reproach. After a free and full consultation with delegates in the Convention representing all the Northern States, I am thoroughly convinced that the great heart of the Democracy is fully roused; that it beats in profound sympathy with the suffering South; that it is fully alive to the dangers which threaten to destroy the Constitution and the Government; and that it is unalterably fixed in its purpose to rescue that Constitution from destruction, to restore that Government to its legitimate functions, and bring back the Southern States to their places in the Union, with all their rights, dignity, and equality unimpaired. These are the objects for which the Democratic party are fighting; and, planting themselves on the Appian Way of the Constitution, grasping once more in friendship the hands of their brethren of the South, setting up again the broken altars of the country, they have sworn never to cease fighting until their objects are accomplished.

I yield to none in devotion to that "Lost Cause" for which we fought. Never shall I admit that the cause itself failed, and that the principles which gave it life were therefore wrong. Never shall I brand the men who upheld it so nobly as "rebels" or "traitors." Never shall I ignominiously seek safety or base promotion by a dastardly denial or treacherous betrayal of it; but still I can accord to those who conscientiously differ with me what I claim for myself—perfect and entire sincerity in following the dictates of duty. My recent intercourse with many Federal soldiers has convinced me that there are thousands and tens of thousands of them who occupy this ground—who are fully determined that the rights of all the States shall be preserved inviolate, and who are prepared to defend the Constitution and its guarantees at all hazards. They will not allow unconstitutional legislation to fix, by means of military tyranny, negro dominion in the South. They will not consent to see ten States, in time of profound peace, kept under the rule of the bayonet, and they will demand, as the Southern States have in good faith accepted and kept the terms offered them, that they shall take their place in the Union as equal partners in the great family of States. Let us determine that, though 'tis not mortal to command success, we'll do more—we'll deserve it. I conjure our people to dedicate all their energies to the work before us. Organize clubs in every locality; and speakers through all the land to arouse the people. Try to convince the negro that we are his real friends; but if he will not be convinced, and is still joined to his idols convince him, at least, that he must look to those idols whom he serves as his gods to feed and clothe him. Agree among yourselves, and act firmly on this agreement, that you will not employ any one who votes the radical ticket. Use all the means that are placed in your hands to control this element by which the radical party seek to degrade us while they secure success, and we can turn their batteries against themselves.

☞We have seen men bearing such ill-omened names as Wise, Toombs, Vance, Yerger, Semmes, and Hampton, proclaiming to that remnant of the Southern people which did not fall bloody victims to their accursed rebellion, that, in the triumph of the Democracy, there is yet life for the "lost cause."—New York Times.

When the news of the nomination of Seymour and Blair reached Wooster, Ohio, the unterrified thereabout fired a salute in honor of the event and pointed the cannon toward the North, whereat a Grant man standing near quietly observed that they were firing the same way they did during the war.

Political Chip Basket.

Democratic tactics: *Do*little and *Say*mour. Grant's plan: Say less and do more.

The pirate Semmes says he is willing to renew his allegiance to the old flag, providing Seymour and Blair are elected. We have no doubt all the rebels are willing to do the same.

The leaders of the Democratic party to-day are the rebel generals Forrest, Hampton, Vance, Preston, with Vallandigham, Brick Pomeroy and others like them. Vide the Tammany Convention, and the speech-makers since.

Governor Andrew, three days before his death, said: "The tendency of the hour is toward Grant; and that is best. Grant is so square and honest a man that I believe he is bound to be right anywhere."

The other day an old soldier who had lost an arm said: "I am waiting to see if the people of this country are going to elect Horatio Seymour, and, if they do I will swear that I lost my arm in a threshing machine, not in defence of my country."

The position of the Republicans is that the national debt shall be paid in the utmost good faith, according to the spirit and letter of the agreement with those from whom the money was obtained. On this the Democrats take issue, a position that cannot be maintained without dishonor and disgrace.

The German address goes right to the point regarding the contest between the two political parties. It says: "Strip the kernel of the coverings in which sophistry has disguised it, and you will find the naked question to be simply: Shall peace and prosperity come to the Republic from the election of November next, or reaction and a new civil war."

Wade Hampton, on his way south, made a speech at a Democratic meeting in Baltimore, where he made his special acknowledgements to the rebel soldiers from Maryland, thanking them for having swept across the line and stood shoulder to shoulder with South Carolina in a great contest for liberty. He advised them to now stand firm for the Union and Constitution, which they could do by voting for Seymour and Blair.

IF A HUMBUG,

What a wonder
That the doors
Are open wide;
Ever since the
First of August
Thousands have Pain Paint applied.
Those who lie,
Or call it humbug,
Are the doctors,
Not acquaint;
For they always
Have been jealous
When their patients
Use Pain Paint.
Pile up facts
As high as mountains,
Flash the truth
Before their eyes,
But the cry
Is always humbug,
Men of science
Full of lies.

People know that liniments composed of Cayenne pepper, turpentine, hartshorn, ether, &c., will produce inflammation and pain. To purchase such trash to stop Pain and Inflammation is ridiculous. Fire will not stop heat; a dumb brute shuns the heat, and knows enough to wade in a pond of water, when wounded, to reduce cool, and cure Inflammation and Fever

Terrible Tragedy.

A terrible tragedy—resulting in the death of William Lane, a plasterer by trade and an old resident of this place, from injuries received at the hands of Thomas H. Fagen, also a plasterer and a resident of this place—occurred in this borough on Saturday afternoon last.

The main facts in the case, as elicited before the Coroner's inquest, are briefly these: Lane and Fagon met in the bar room of the United States Hotel about 4 o'clock, and, both being under the influence of liquor, got into an altercation about a lime or mortar box. During the altercation Lane drew a pocket knife and threatened to cut Fagen, and did cut his arm, when Fagen knocked him down, and beat him with a chair about the head and face with such violence as to cause his death in a few moments.

An inquest was held upon the body by Justice Leat, and after hearing the evidence the jury returned a verdict that the deceased came to his death from kicks and blows inflicted by Fagon.

Fagen was arrested immediately after the occurrence, taken before Esquire Leet, and committed to prison.

Lane was about 55 years of age, and leaves a wife and several grown up sons and daughters. His remains were interred in the Lutheran cemetery on Sunday afternoon, with military honors, he having served in the Union army during the rebellion as a member of the gallant old 84th P. V.

Fagen is also a married man and the father of several children. He formerly resided at Broad Top, but has been living in this place for the past year.—Hollidaysburg Standard.

The Methodist Sunday School held the first picnic of the season of that kind on Saturday last at Burchinell's Grove. Notwithstanding the threatenings of the storm, the day was pleasant while the pic-nic lasted, and the little ones, lads and lasses, enjoyed themselves hugely. Of course the larger ones played "Drop the Handkerchief," and it is unnecessary to add how they enjoyed the unlimitable smacking of lips in such an heart-stealing amusement.

Brief Items.

Cholera pills: green apples.

A refreshing rain fell yesterday.

Skating, it is said, will be better next January than it is now.

There are about four hundred guests at Bedford Springs.

Almost a dog-fight in the Diamond on Saturday.

Somebody says that lawyers belong to the fee-line race.

See change in the Huntingdon and Broad Top Railroad Schedule.

The building now being put up by Mr. S. S. Smith will be the largest in town.

National Hall had a good run on Saturday night to see a man doing wonders.

Several more new houses going up in West Huntingdon, and board walks on every side.

Admired by everybody: the new styles of wood wall paper at Lewis' Book Store.

Carry a damp handkerchief, or a cabbage leaf, not a brick, in your hat these hot days.

It is said New York absorbs 20,000 kegs of soda water and 40,000 ditto of lager beer.

Will be in town next week: the few candidates for office and many of their friends.

Numerous: berry hunters and fishing parties. They nearly all meet with success.

Going still higher: Grant and Colfax stock, and the number of new subscribers to the Globe. We have plenty of room for more.

Miss Soibert of Altoona, the young lady who was shot by Merklein, is in a fair way of recovery.

S. M. Woodkok, nominated for District Attorney by the Democracy of Blair, has tendered his resignation. It's just as well.

A rattlesnake, measuring over five feet in length, and sporting twenty rattles on his narrative, was lately killed in Centre county.

Fishers' mill commenced operations again on Thursday last. The new machinery works well.

Mr. Goodman, who was badly injured some weeks ago by the cars, we were pleased to see again on his feet a few days ago.

Quick sales and small profits. Another arrival of prime dried beef and sugar cured hams at Lewis' Family Grocery.

It is an interesting sight to see a young lady with both hands in soft dough and a mosquito on the end of her nose.

Court commences next week. We expect to see a big crowd in town, and to receive the calls of many of our friends.

Some thieves stole about two hundred lbs. of meat from the smoke house of Mr. George Smouse, in Snake Spring twp., Bedford co.

A member of the Methodist church went back on his preacher on Friday last and was baptized in the Juniata.

A fire occurred in Oil City, Venango co., on Friday last, destroying $200,000 worth of property in houses and oil. Several hotels and stores were destroyed.

Several ladies have had very valuable dresses ruined in consequence of vitriol having been thrown upon the skirts of them while parading the streets of Ebensburg.

The delegate elections for the Republican Convention on Tuesday next will be held on next Saturday evening. Read the call of the Chairman in to-day's paper.

Our Band was out in full blast on Saturday evening and gave the public the benefit of a round treat of excelsior music. Do it more times, boys, our people like it.

Both political conventions will meet in Huntingdon next week. The Republican on Tuesday, and the Democratic on Wednesday. We hope both conventions will put up good tickets.

The citizens of our town were out en masse on Saturday evening last to see the lofty tumbling of a traveling rope walker in front of the National Hall. It was a free exhibition, of course.

The Local Accommodation east struck a cow on Tuesday afternoon last near the coal wharf above town, and killed the cow and wrecked the engine. The wreck was soon cleared away and the trains passed as usual.

A Democratic soldier had a dream on Sunday night. A good spirit asked him how he could vote against Grant. He didn't give us his answer, but perhaps he may yet feel like voting as he shot.

The five spans of the Susquehanna bridge, near Harrisburg, that were destroyed by fire on the 17th ult., have been rebuilt on the original plan, and the trains commenced running over it on Wednesday last.

Workmen are engaged in rebuilding and enlarging the Huntingdon dams. Piper's dam is also to be extended and the locks enlarged. We hope the dams will be repaired with a view to allowing shad, etc., to pass according to law.

It is stated that a general movement will be made in the next State Legislature to increase the pay of jurymen. This is very proper, as no set of men serving in an official capacity, receive less money for services rendered than jurymen.

The fare on the Pennsylvania railroad has been reduced about one-half cent per mile to all persons purchasing tickets at the ticket offices; all who pay in the cars will be required to pay the old rates. The reduction is about fourteen per cent.

The notice given of Nagency's cave in Mifflin county, has recalled attention to a much more extensive one in Trioster's Valley, in the same county, and preparations are being made to explore it. Isn't there danger of our sister county caving in some day?

The men employed at the coal wharf of the Pennsylvania railroad above town last week demanded an increase of wages, and on Saturday they quit work, the Company being obliged to put on the floating gang. We understand that the men have been working for $35 per month, and they ask for $40.

The completion of the Connellsville railroad from Connellsville to Cumberland, in twenty months, is now regarded as absolutely certain. This will be no benefit to us, unless the Broad Top railroad is by some means or other, made to run to Cumberland, which may and may not be the case at some future day.

An eight-hour-a-day man, on going home the other evening for his supper, found his wife sitting in her best clothes on the front stoop, reading a volume of travels. "And how is this?" he exclaimed. "Where's my supper?" "I don't know," replied his wife, "I began to get breakfast at six o'clock this morning, and my eight hours ended 2 p. m."

We would advise persons working about potatoes, to be very careful in handling the bugs that are often found on the vines.—Within the last few weeks we have noticed quite a number of serious cases of poisoning caused by those insects, and in St. Paul, Minn., one lady who threw them into a stove inhaling the poisonous fumes, fell to the floor in an insensible condition and died in about ten minutes.

The wheat crop of this county has all been housed. The yield is thought to be a good average. The grass crop is excellent and the farmers have taken in a great deal during the past two weeks. If we only have a little more rain, the crops yet in the ground will also give a fair yield, and the tillers will be happy that year 1868 has brought a blessing to them.

We have received from S. W. Gehrett, of Cassville, this county, three numbers of the Huntingdon Globe, dated respectively March 26, 1845, April 9, 1845, April 23, 1845. We will have occasion soon to reproduce some matters of interest published in these numbers. Mr. L. G. Mytinger was the editor and publisher in those days, and the appearance of the paper convinces us that he knew how to do things.

The editor of the Lewistown Democrat says he went traveling recently and stopped at Grafton, West Virginia, over night, where some villainously vile vagrant stole a dollar out of his pocket-book, which he alleges was all the change he had. Perhaps he thinks now that some of those fellows down South do need reconstructing, but anyhow he ought to have known better than to be so far away from home with so much money.

No book has been issued from the American press for a long time that deserves so universal a circulation as this. It is edited by Dr. Smith of the London University, and the most eminent lexicographer of the English speaking world. Having conceived the plan, he associated himself with over seventy of the most eminent scholars of this country and Europe, in all departments of Biblical learning and research, and prepared a comprehensive Bible Dictionary, which should embrace the results of Christian research and scholarship of centuries.—Having finished this great work, Dr. Smith then prepared an Abridgement, (the work being in three massive octavo volumes, was too large and costly for the public generally,) which should include all that is best adapted to the needs of Christian families and Sabbath school teachers. This is the work now re-published in this country whose titles we have given, and we do not hesitate to say that it should go into every dwelling where there is any desire to read and study the Bible intelligently and with profit.

This invaluable work is now being sold by our young friend Frank M. Higgins of this place, who is studying for the Ministry at the Lewisburg College, and while he remains with us during the vacation, he expects to meet with the liberal patronage of the public of which we deem him in every way deserving. We have seen the book and can testify to its merits.

Pittsburg Female College.

We once more call the attention of our readers to the claims of this really sterling institution. Its recent catalogue shows an attendance during the past year of three hundred and forty-seven young ladies, gathered from 12 States. Though but thirteen years have elapsed since it was first opened for the reception of pupils, it has already gained a national reputation and Pittsburgh justly boasts of an institution which has no peer in the State and but few equals in the land. Its admirable location, on one of the most beautiful and quiet streets of the city, and yet within ten minutes walk of nearly every important point; its superb buildings; its unusually large, able and accomplished Faculty of twenty-two teachers; its unsurpassed facilities in all the solid and ornamental branches; its thorough training; its wholesome discipline, and withal, moderate prices, commend it to all who have daughters to educate. This latter item is worthy of special notice. The charges are scarcely one half those of many schools having fewer teachers and less facilities. It is not an institution established for private gain, but to meet a public want, and the single aim of all concerned has been to put a finished education, of the highest grade, within the reach of all worthy young ladies. The Fall term commences September 2. Send to Rev. I. C. Pershing, for a catalogue. Let its halls be crowded.

The Johnstown Accident.

In the case of Gillis vs. the Penna. R. R. Co., which was tried before Judge Taylor at Ebensburg and taken afterwards to the Supreme Court of this State, Justice Sharswood concluded the opinion of the court as follows:

"However much to be lamented was the sad occurrence which occasioned this suit, and however much sympathy may be felt for those who were injured, and the families of those who lost their lives, we are of the opinion that the circumstances of the case were not such as to cast any pecuniary responsibility on the Railroad Company, and that the learned Judge below was therefore right in directing the jury to find a verdict for the defendants.

Judgment affirmed.

A freight train west on the Penna. railroad ran off the track between Creason and Gallitzin, on Sunday night, and some five or six cars were wrecked. Two men who were stealing their way were buried in the wreck, but fortunately escaped serious injury. The next morning at Wilmore station the same train came in collision with the pusher of the local freight east, which was on the western track, and the result was the serious injury of the engineer of the train, David Randolph, and the fireman, John Flanagan, as well as the almost total demolition of four of the cars and the engine attached to the train. Both the injured men were taken to Altoona where they reside.

MARRIED,

In Morrison, Illinois, June 30th, '68, by the Rev. George S. Young, Mr. B. F. STEWART, of Dixon, (formerly of Sinking Valley, Blair County, Pa.,) and Miss GINEVRA G. PHILLIPS, of Dixon, Illinois.

DIED,

July 18th, at 12½ P. M., 1868, Mr. ALEXANDER HAMER, consort of Lillias A. Hamer, of Hannibal, Mo., formerly of Williamsburg, Blair county, Pa., after a protracted and painful seige of bronchial affection, resulting in consumption and death. Aged 41 years.

Mr. Hamer was a good, peaceable, and quiet citizen, highly respected by all who knew him. He leaves a wife and three children, aged from 12 to 17, to mourn their loss; but their loss was evidently his gain, for though he desired to live for their sake, yet for his own he longed to "depart and be with Christ," which he felt to be far better.

Many years ago he united with the M. E. Church in Pennsylvania. During the last few weeks of his life, he was not only calm and resigned, but joyous and triumphant, knowing assuredly that though the earthly house of his tabernacle was fast dissolving, he had a "building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."—Hannibal Daily Courier.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

TO THE LADIES.—Do you really intend to cease wearing the beautiful styles now so prevalent, or dress less elegantly, because the rebel Jeff. Davis, was captured in Fashionable Female attire? One moment's calm reflection will surely serve to change your rash resolve. The angels had too much good sense to lay aside their pure chaste robes of white, because they had for a time served to hide the deformities of that Prince of Rebels, the Devil. Can you err in following the example of Angels? Then having made up your minds that you will continue to dress tastefully regardless of rebel acts, do not forget to call at the store of the subscribers, who will be happy at all times to furnish you with such articles of dress as you may desire. Urge your fathers, husbands, brothers, neighbors and children to visit the same store. They can here be suited in good articles of Boots, Shoes, Clothing Material, Hats, Caps, Queensware and a general assortment of Groceries, on as reasonable terms as at any House in town. Store on Southeast corner of the Diamond, Huntingdon, Pa.

For Intermittent Fever or Chills and Fever this Bitters is a specific far better and surer than quinine.
